

.340 SHORT CENTREFIRE

Developed in Britain around 1898 for use in Tranter and other revolvers, it was also made by some European firms. The cartridge is not known to have been headstamped. This particular version is battery cup primed.

